THE HEALTHCARE TECHNOLOGIES STUDENT AND EARLY CAREER AWARDS 2020

27 October, Online Event

THE 2020 HEALTHCARE TECHNOLOGIES STUDENT AND EARLY CAREER AWARDS ARE NOW OPEN.

FINALISTS WILL BE INVITED TO BE PRESENT AT THE ONLINE AWARDS ON 27 OCTOBER 2020. PLUS DON'T MISS THIS YEAR'S ONLINE DUNCAN DOWSON MEMORIAL LECTURE ON THE TOPIC OF 'NANOSTRUCTURED (POLY)PEPTIDE MATERIALS FOR THERMORESPONSIVE AND CELL-DIRECTED THERAPIES' (12PM BST, 19 OCTOBER 2020) WHICH WILL BE PRESENTED BY KRISTI KIICK, PROFESSOR OF MATERIALS SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING AT THE UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE.

There are a total of four award categories to consider, each of which will require an application form to be submitted, outlining your work and why it is relevant for that specific award.

- Best Bioengineering Project (Undergraduate/Masters) Highlighting the best projects in Biomedical Engineering from recent graduates, third/fourth year undergraduates and taught Master's degree course students.

- Best Bioengineering Project (PhD) Recognising outstanding work by current PhD students or PhD graduates who passed their viva after 1 January 2018.

- Best Bioengineering Project Video (Undergraduate/Masters) For the best engineering project short video presented by third/fourth year undergraduates and taught Master's degree course students.

- Best Bioengineering Project Video (PhD) For the best engineering project short video presented by PhD students who passed their viva after 1 January 2018.
